

I want to express my opposition to the Consumer Bankers Association attempt to get past our Indiana law on telephone privacy. I support this law and am on the no-call list because I don't want the calls interrupting my personal time. Let bankers an exemption then the telephone company and the gasoline company and the real estate company and the insurance company, etc. etc. etc. will all be demanding "established business relationship" and the law (representing the "will of the people") will be neutralized. All these businesses have adequate means to communicate their message to me without using MY telephone and MY time at home !!!
